Coppola Earns Steady Job as Starter : Bucs Now in Thick of Pennant Fight

NAT ROOK'S SPEED SHUTS OUT BOSOX

Hurler Justifies Judgment of Griffith, Harris Reveal in His Retention.

BY FRANCIS E. STAN.

YOUNG Henry Coppola has yet to prove himself a Cy Blanton or a Johnny Whitehead, of course, but the 20-year-old pitching hero of the Nationals today had proved at least two points to the keenest satisfaction of Clark Griffith.

Stop us if you know them all along. But they are:

1. That Clark Griffith still is the shrewdest judge of base ball men in the game.

2. That Bucky Harris is the ruin-ber-up.

They missed gambling instinct with here judgment, did this Old Fox and his understudy, when Coppola was rescued a couple of weeks ago from Monte Weaver, not young Coppola, was less essential to the Washington ball club do they shipped Monte away when it was necessary to cut down the squad.

There were a few rumblings from the fans. After all, Weaver was an experienced. And there was his 1933 record, which had made him the rookie slab sensation of the American League. Who was this Coppola?

Well, today he seems to be the answer to the Nationals' pitching prayers. On the strength of a five-hit, 3-to-0 victory over the Red Sox today he will enter as a big league starter he has given his club new hope. And to quote Harris:

"He is a young fellow who is going to take a regular turn from now on."

Ball Players Read Henry.

ONE game does not make a season. Not even a string of games as the kid pitched yesterday. Coppola still needs polish. He still is a diamond in the rough. But he is no flash in the pan. Authority for this statement comes from the ball field—from men who play with and against the stocky right-hander, whose first name Griffith couldn't be the title of him yesterday, but who now is known to one and all as Henry.

Grid and Bucky went far out on the limb for Henry, a strong-armed youth who had a blinding fast ball. Last Fall, after he had been farmed out, Grid had him shipped here from Albany via the Northeastern League. It looked as though Griffith was getting cold when he personally worked out with Coppola in an empty stadium every other day from September to December. And then on week ends he would rush Henry to some point-possession semi-pro games.

But there was a method in Uncle Clark's apparent madness, although it be said to Harris when he turned over a batch of assorted round hops: "Keep an eye on Coppola."

Youngster Great Under Fire.

BUCKEY kept an eye on him. He also looked over the more highly-touted youngsters and when pruning time came he turned loose the publicized Reese Flagg, the old-timer Ann McNeil, the more experienced Jack Russell, Ed Linke, Ed Holley and Dick Lanahan, Orville Armbrust and others.

The Coppola kid didn't know how to wind up, or hold men on bases, or throw a big-league curve yet, but he was fast as blazes and looked to be the answer to Bucky's prayer for a dependable whom Buck Newsom was bought—Weaver or Coppola?

Yesterday Henry rewarded Harris and Griffith for keeping him. He brushed away some of the pitching clouds that were hovering over their heads. He showed the baseball world for the first time, really since Newsom shut out the White Sox in his debut.

He showed an unholy fast ball that sailed in weird directions into Cliff Bolton's big glove. He had control when he needed it. Best of all, he displayed Shantzlike fortitude under fire.

No-Hitter Until Fifth.

HIS probably was the prettiest pitched game of the season here by a National hurler. He was against some stiff competition from a trio of Red Sox pitchers, yet Coppola always was in command.

Through five innings he had a no-hit game, and with his own bat playing a big part, he enjoyed a 2-to-0 lead. The kid singled to open the second and scored on a double by Hennie Manush, who was driven across a moment later by Buddy Myer's one-bagger.

But until the eighth inning was he really in a hole. After he had whiffed Dahlgren, did Ping Miller was selected to the plate to bat for Rhoden, and Coppola responded with a single. Then Almada immediately propelled Ping to third with a single to center, marking the only time the Bostons were able to couple hingles.

Here was where Coppola really warmed the cockles of the hometowners' hearts. He got Cronin to hop to Travis and Ben Johnson's attempt liner to right went straight into Jack Stone's glove.

The third and final Washington run, incidentally, was earned—or rather, unearned—in the sixth. It was a Texas League single by Manush, a stolen base and a sacrifice fly by Myer that after knocking down Al Powell's scratch single. On the heels had Dahlgren, Myer scored from second.

SCORES RACING CLEAN-UP.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's has won three out of three races this year, but probably got his biggest thrill yesterday when his colors were one, two, three in the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park. Top spot of Dogmale, which before been Bachelor Dinner by a neck.

VOLLEY BALL OLD GAME.

Volley ball was invented in 1895 by William G. Morgan, then physical director of Holyoke, Mass., Y. M. C. A., to supply the need for a gentleman sport that was competitive but not combative." A tennis net and the rubber bladder from a basket ball were the first equipment used.

SEE STAKE THREAT IN COLD SHOULDER

Vanderbilt Horse Displays Rest in Preparation for Classic Belmont.

By the Associated Press.

A. G. VANDERBILT'S Cold Shoulder has only to equal his performance of last year to be a serious threat in the Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday.

The big colt, which has shown poor form in recent races, turned in one of the most sensational workouts ever recorded on an American track.

With his full weight up the Vanderbilt 3-year-old worked 1½ miles, the distance of the Belmont, in 2:29½, which is only 1½ seconds slower than the Wee Admiral's track record for the American mark of 2:28⅗, made under 108 pounds at Latonia in 1927.

WORKMAN GOING GREAT.

FANS AND PLAYERS APPEAL FOR PITTS

Di Dean and Martin Among Those Who Urge He Be Given Chance.

By the Associated Press.

A LBANY, N. Y., June 7.—Efforts of "Alabama" Pitts, banned from base ball because he wears the label "ex-convict," provided the sports with its latest cause celebre today as fans and players throughout the country rallied to his aid.

From Dizzy Dean down to the fan who pays his 50 cents for a seat high in the bleachers came protests over the barring of Pitts, Sing Sing prisoner pitcher, from the Interstate League.

Jimmy Wilson, manager of the Phillies' base ball club, commented he would be glad to have Pitts on my ball club.

"What harm can Pitts do to base ball?" asked Leslie O'Connor, vice chairman of the New York State Assembly Penal Institute's Committee.

Send Wire to Branham.

DIZZY DEAN and Pepper Martin, stars of the St. Louis Cardinals, wired an appeal to Judge W. G. Bramham—the man who closed base ball's doors to Pitts. They asked that he rescind his order.

Pitts' application, denied as Bramham, president of the National Association of Minor Professional Base Ball Leagues, unanimously, but his fate was down on place of the Albany Senators of the International League to use the 24-year-old former prisoner in the league.

The loud murmurs of the voice matter, however, was young Pitts, who was released from Sing Sing yesterday after serving five years for a New York City hold-up. He watched his first night base ball game at Syracuse last evening.

SURVIVES BROKEN NECK

Noted British Steeplechaser Is Expected to Race Again.

LIVERPOOL, (AP).—A veterinary surgeon has been accomplished here with the recovery of Henry's Choice, noted steeplechaser, who broke his neck in a fall at Aintree the day after the Grand National.

The horse was unconscious for 48 hours after the fall, then remained in a dazed condition for several days. It was not until the pumiled veterinarian had an X-ray examination made that they discovered his neck had been broken. Now that he has completely mended a break had been considered fatal, but there is a possibility Henry's Choice will be jumping again within a year or two.

GOMEZ IS LEXICOGRAPHER.

NEW YORK (AP).—Vernon "Lefty Gody" Gomez, talkative Yankee pitcher, has turned lexicographer on his—coined the word, "wythus," which he defines as "a baseball player who runs, throws, fights," explaining further "is that little extra you have on your good days."

JOCKEY IS SUSPENDED.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., June 7.—Jockey H. Richards today faced a suspension period. He was the seventh rider to be suspended this season. Richards was set down yesterday for crossing over too sharply at the start of the third race.

City Tennis Tourney Appears Sure of Best Field in Years

THAT there are more top-notch tennis players in Washington than ever before in the history of the game, seems to be the consensus of opinion on the eve of the city's first major tournament of 1935.

With the City of Washington tournament scheduled to begin tomorrow at the Rock Creek courts, local fans are stirred by the knowledge that practically all of the leading players of last year have put here an appearance at the Government.

A last-minute rush to enroll in the tourney is expected at Bill Shreve's Tennis Shop today before the deadline at 6 o'clock tonight and should bring out a host of the lesser lights of the game which start at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

DRIVE FROM FIFTH TO SECOND PLACE

Annex 16 of 22 Games as Pitchers Shine—Tigers Make Third Rung.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE Pittsburgh Pirates at last have begun to make their presence felt in the pennant race, with their latest spurt carrying them into second place yesterday.

Since they blotspeared their way to a three-game triumph over the Phillies at the end of their last Eastern trip, the Bucs have won 16 of 22 games, including seven in a row.

This winning streak has carried them from fifth place a little over a week ago into second, and in only one of those five games have they gained more than 10 hits.

RED LUCAS and Bill Swift turned in six-hit mound performances, Jim Weaver a five-hit shutout, Cy Blanton outpeaded Dizzy Dean, though touched for nine blows, and Claude Passeau, who relieved Blondy Ruel in the thirteenth, also threw a six-hitter, making their four-hit game yesterday 10 beat the Cardinals, 3 to 1.

Bush halted the even more venerable Jesse (Pop) Haines on the hill, and after the first inning was almost unbeatable. The first two men up, Frankie Frisch and Joe Medwick, singled, recovered for a single and a double that produced the only Cardinal run.

The Bucs got their pair in the second when doubles by Pep Young and Earl Grace surrounded a pass to Tommy Thevenow, purposely passed. They scored when Thevenow forced pass, plus an error and a sacrifice, by Jim Collins reach third. He was thrown out trying to score on a grounder to short.

MICKEY COCHRANE'S Detroit Tigers, who have been moving up in the American League almost as steadily as Pittsburgh, went into a third-place tie with the Cleveland Indians as they won a 10-inning struggle, 10 to 9, and saw the second half of a scheduled double-header washed out. The Senators and Chicago's enforced idleness dropped them from second place as the Tigers fell back.

The Tigers were set for a walkover when they built up a 7-0 lead while Schoolboy Rowe pitched shutout ball. But in the seventh Rowe blew up, and Washington came back to tie it. Ben Engel clouted the ball.

The Indians forged ahead in the eighth only to have the Tigers bind the score and finally win when Goose Goslin made his fourth hit and drove in his fifth run in the tenth after Charley Gehringer had opened with a double.

Rain halted two contests in each league, while the Braves and Brooklyn had an open date.

IN CHESS CIRCLES

BY FRANK B. WALKER.

THE Canadian Press reports that W. J. Hastings of Regina, Canada, still is engaged in a correspondence checker tournament, begun in 1928, and that it will take about two years more to finish it. A. B. Hardy of Tennessee was the last surviving American Hastings now is playing Fleming Brown of Fairholm, Saskatchewan.

THERE seems to be Oklahoma one. In 1912 the chess editor was at Lawton, Okla. When he arrived there he found that James W. Witten had announced to the chess players of Lawton, which included the State champion, the arrival of a chess player from Washington and he immediately challenged him to play a match. Chess Club. He went with four and trembling. This is what the Lawton Constitution said in its issue of December 4, 1912:

"J. W. Martin, president of Lawton Chess Club, one of whose members, J. B. Prince, recently defeated Jack Walker of Chickasha, champion of the state, by the narrow margin of a single game, defeated Walker of Lawton, aiding Judge Witten in the work of selling the Government land. On learning that Mr. Walker was a chess player J. W. immediately 'tackled' him for a game, with the result mentioned above. Following this a game between the State champion, Mr. Prance, and Walker, in which our local player was defeated. Mr. Walker is a member of some of the best clubs in Washington and it would be quite an honor if the Lawton club could claim him as one of they have not been able to do so."

Just before leaving Lawton the chess editor offered to play one game blindfold or as many games simultaneously as they had boards and men present at the club, about seven. They chose the latter and the chess editor won.

Bean Picked for Second Starting Shot at Mackmen

Will Toil in Twin Bill Tomorrow—Myer Foils Cronin, Props Coppola—Werber No Aid Here

LATED over the performance of Henry Coppola in his first major test, Bucky Harris has decided to gamble once again with another heretofore obscure member of a pitching staff that may be hard pressed starting today when Connie Mack's Athletics invade for a three-day visit which will embrace four games.

Echo Bean, the disappointing right-hander procured from Cleveland for Walter Stewart, is going to get another starting try, Harris has decided, as he probably will be sent to the slab tomorrow when the Athletics engage in the second game of the twin bill in the opening day game of April 16, which was rained out.

In spite of Bean's 10-and-out relief performance and his failure as a starter last Sunday in Philadelphia, Harris firmly believes the big recruit would have been at least one run for the Bacon.

After Bill Werber had led off with a base on balls and Johnson's infield out (slyer to Kuhel) had advanced the runner to second, Cronin hit a hard ground ball back of second base. Spectators were starting to mark down a run when Myer dashed back to the grass, stuck down his glove, and came up with the ball. An equally brilliant throw disposed of Cronin, held Werber at third, and Coppola was in the clear with a double by forcing Reynolds to pop up—to Myer.

And Myer is taking his promotion to third in the batting order seriously. In the last six games he has tripled twice, doubled twice, singled once and stole his first. Average, .375.

Not a Bad Choice.

JOE CAMBRIA, the Albany owner, has been put on the carpet by some critics for allegedly attempting to explain an ex-convict by signing Alabama Pitts. But Cambria knows his ball players.
